I wrote about Handke's idiocies 20 years ago. I agree with you.

Dear Salman, I believe you read the news about the latest laureate of the #NobelPrize for literature. I am shocked. It is a slap in the face of all the victims of #Milošević regime.

Allow me to disagree, Mr Rushdie. First, always separate author and work, wouldn't you agree? Second, that unfortunate moment in one's history sure does not belittle great drama and prose. I'm sure new editions will now appear and make this clear enough. Best, Martin Middeke

Yes. But re-read A Sorrow Beyond Dreams on the suicide of his mother and you know what I mean. And generally, a slap in the face of political correctness can be beneficial and curative too.

If you think disgust with genocide denialists is political correctness, then I think our conversation is over, sir.
